B RITAIN'S royal bad boy Prince Harry is at the center of two EXPLOSIVE new drug scandals that have plunged Buckingham Palace into crisis!

The 31-year-old ginger heartthrob has been linked to an alleged $107 million cocaine smuggling plot, with a close friend accused of being involved in the transportation of 1.5 tons of the killer drug.

That friend is Fidelio Cavalli — who vacationed with Harry last year aboard a private insider confided to The National ENQUIRER.

Cavalli leased a private jet used in the attempted smuggling operation to transport 47 bags of the drugs, disguised as aid from the International Red Cross, cops have alleged.

Though there is no indication that Harry knew anything about the smuggling conspiracy, "Her Majesty is furious Harry is good friends with people who are linked to drugs, and has ordered a full review of her grandson's inner circle!"

If that wasn't bad enough, a week earlier the prince was caught smoking and passing a suspicious-looking cigarette!

These world exclusive ENQUIRER photos show Harry laughing and taking a puff among friends during a wild night out celebrating his 31st birthday!

"Prince Charles is on the warpath," said the insider. "He's furious that his son's bodyguards can't keep him away from 'the wrong crowd.'"

"The royals can ill afford a repeat of what happened in Las Vegas three years ago."

As The ENQUIRER exposed, secret cell phone pictures revealed Harry naked in a hotel suite, bending over and giving a topless girl a "bear hug" — complete with bare bottom!

Charles ordered aides to spend up to $10 million to buy the photos, video clips — and most important — the silence of the beauty involved!

"The royals are working hard to downplay the scandals and make sure Harry stays on the straight and narrow," added The ENQUIRER source.

"Guards are instructed to get Harry out of any clubs if he has too much to drink. They don't want anything going wrong to shame their blue blood!" NE

TAYLOR DUMPS LOVER AFTER HE'S CAUGHT GETTING ‘MASSAGES!’

ENQUIRER
EXCLUSIVE

POP princess Taylor Swift can start writing her next bombshell break-up song — because she dumped DJ Calvin Harris over his lies about a secret visit to a sleazy massage parlor, The National ENQUIRER can reveal.

Calvin was caught exiting a $40 Thai massage parlor in L.A. and lamely claimed he needed a “shoulder” rubbing even though the “Bad Blood” singer’s squeeze has a staff masseuse, a source has said.

“He lied to her!” one of Taylor’s pals told The ENQUIRER.

“When the photos got posted on (the website) RadarOnline, Taylor said to him, ‘What the hell?’ and he gave some bullsh--t excuse that his masseuse was sick and he needed his shoulders worked on.”

Unlucky-in-love Taylor, 25, officially split from Calvin “about a week ago,” ending their seven-month whirlwind romance!

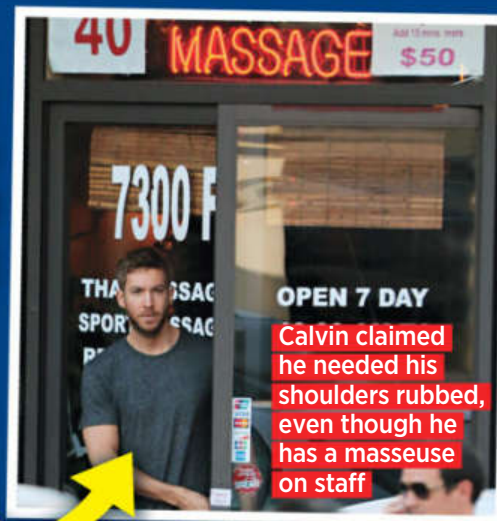

On Oct. 6, the Scottish hunk took to social media in a desperate attempt to throw cold water on the rumored split, putting up a photo of a nerdy-looking guy.

“I don’t know what the guy who makes up stories for newspapers looks like, but it’s probably similar to this,” he wrote in the message, which he quickly took down.

Calvin, 31, is still pining for the chart-topping singer.

“He wanted to fly in to see her and repair things, but her assistant called him and gave a firm, ‘No,’” the source added. “Instead, he went to Vegas with his bros!”

Just-wed Jen’s already got the blues!

BORED new bride Jennifer Aniston is tired of married life after less than three months — and could be looking for an early exit from her union!

“Friends” star Jen is already whining she’s tired of being a “single married woman,” according to a source.

The actress, 46, and husband Justin Theroux, 44, barely spend any time together, and the distance between them is putting a heavy strain on their marriage, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

“Since the honeymoon in August, the newlywed stars have spent most of their time apart,” revealed the source.

Jen’s been mostly in Atlanta filming “Mother’s Day,” while Justin’s in Texas shooting the HBO series, “The Leftovers.”

“Jen didn’t think it would be this hard being away from Justin for such a long time,” said the source.

While Jen has visited Justin in Austin, pals said they’re concerned over the long-distance marriage. “It’s not the same as waking up next to your husband, especially when you just married him,” said a friend.

Jen’s also complaining she’s not thrilled over Justin yapping about their secret wedding day!

“They both agreed to keep the wedding private,” said the source. “She doesn’t appreciate him talking candidly about it in interviews.”

“But Justin’s deliriously happy. He just doesn’t realize how lonely his wife feels.” NE

DESPERATE DIVA IN NEW HEALTH HELL AS

DYING CHER

■ Singer cannot escape from killer virus ■ Controversial

Cher has had to turn to medical treatment abroad in a desperate effort to save her own life

In a desperate bid to cheat death, ailing superstar Cher has traveled to Germany to secretly undergo a cutting-edge treatment, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

The 69-year-old diva - who's battling physical ailments and emotional stress - recently announced she'd gone overseas for a holistic remedy.

But an ENQUIRER investigation has discovered the singer personally directed a massive cover-up to hide the fact she was actually seeking stem cell

SECRET LIFE-SAVING TRIP TO GERMANY ENDS IN DESPAIR

treatment 'unavailable in U.S.' ■ Mystery illness sidelines star for 48 days replacement therapy not available in the U.S.

While reps insist Cher has recovered from the "killer virus" that led to her wearing a heart monitor, the illness has recurred, sources said – and friends fear the end is near for the "Turn Back Time" singer!

"Cher is fading fast. There's no hope for her," said a source close to the Oscar-winning "Moonstruck" star. "Going to Germany was really a Hail Mary pass to find some sort of 'miracle cure' for the virus that's killing her.

"Time is running out, and Cher is very aware of it. But she doesn't want anyone to know exactly how dire her health condition is. So, she covered up the whole thing in a tweet to her fans."

In a recent Twitter post to her followers, Cher wrote: "In Germany visiting friends & Naturopath (4tune up). He Scolds 'Cher DRINK MORE WASSER.'"

A friend told The ENQUIRER: "Cher really downplayed the whole thing. But in reality, she climbed off her 'death bed' to head to Germany."

But according to the source, the "Believe" singer actually jetted to a German clinic to receive "non-traditional treatment unavailable in the U.S."

Cher, who has not been seen in 48 days, has sought treatment at the same clinic for the debilitating Epstein-Barr virus, which she's battled since the late '80s.

'Time is running out, and Cher is very aware of it'

HER SON with Gregg Allman, Elijah Blue, also sought stem cell treatment for Lyme disease at the clinic in Germany's Black Forest. He'd spent two weeks at the clinic with cancer-stricken "Charlie's Angels" star Farrah Fawcett, who'd gone there at Cher's urging.

He revealed the high costs involved. Elijah said: "I had gone with Farrah right before she passed away [in 2009]."

"It is very expensive ... it can be up to $15-20 grand a week."

Added the friend: "Going to Germany helped her son, but Cher's medical issues are far worse than Lyme disease. Sadly, she may be going the way of her tragic friend Farrah – may she rest in peace."

HIDDEN AWAY CLINIC BELOVED BY THE STARS

O THER stars who have sought stem cell therapy in Germany range from Las Vegas illusionist Roy Horn to late actor Dick Van Patten.

As The ENQUIRER reported in 2005, Roy was injected with stem cells from pig embryos in a desperate attempt to walk again.

The Siegfried & Roy star flew to a German clinic for the controversial treatment after the white Siberian tiger, Montecore, savagely mauled him onstage at the Mirage Hotel in 2003.

Accompanied by his longtime partner Siegfried Fischbacher, Roy was treated at the Leonardis Klinik in the foothills of the Bavarian Alps in their native Germany.

Two years later, "Eight Is Enough" star Dick Van Patten also jetted to Germany for experimental stem cell treatments to fight numbness and pain.

But the beloved TV dad passed away on June 23. NE

Miley's OVERDOSE drama!

She was stoned on 'SNL' after druggie camping trip

- insider

MILEY Cyrus is on her way to a drug-addled early grave!

That's the fear among worried friends and family of the outrageous singer who are scared the pop starlet will accidentally kill herself with a cocktail of illegal drugs, sources told The National ENQUIRER.

"It's almost happened already," revealed one source, detailing the 22-year-old's dirty secret from a week before her Oct. 3 appearance on "Saturday Night Live."

"Right before rehearsals started, Miley went camping with her group of friends that all do drugs," said an insider.

"One of her friends told her to lick some weird banana slug, and she got really sick!

"Her tongue swelled out of her mouth and she had to take antibiotics and steroid shots all week! She made no attempt to keep it to herself on the 'SNL' set.

"She still had a full-body rash that makeup spent over an hour on in an attempt to hide!"

Licking banana slugs produces a sensation of numbness in your tongue and mouth, like the drug novocaine, which is commonly used during surgery and childbirth.

CYRUS' GREATEST HITS

Miley's habit of constantly puffing away has pals fearing her entire life will go up in smoke

ENQUIRER
EXCLUSIVE

The "Wrecking Ball" singer, who has hosted "SNL" three times, was "stoned for the entire show," declared another mole.

"She was smoking blunts all week long!" said the source.

"Last time she hosted, the cast knew her to work her ass off in rehearsal, but as soon as that ended, she partied her face off. This time, she was smoking weed non-stop throughout rehearsals! When the show was over, she was so stoned her eyes were almost completely shut!"

In January, The ENQUIRER exposed Miley's hard-core drug use from inside the wild child's drug den — a room in her California mansion where she binges on marijuana, hallucinogenic mushrooms and cocaine.

"Miley has a great work ethic," added the source.

"But her friends are convinced she'll probably die from doing some weird drug in the woods — like a banana slug!"

Madonna firmly believes concentrated oxygen treatments — not unlike the hyperbaric chamber Michael Jackson (bottom) slept in — will keep the effects of aging at bay

JUST call her "Primadonna." Madonna is not only traveling the world with a Michael Jackson-like anti-aging chamber, but the Queen of Pop also requires a separate seat on her private jet for her religious books, sources have told The National ENQUIRER.

Insiders on Her Madgesty's Rebel Heart world tour were shocked to see the demanding diva use a $14,000 anti-aging machine, which applies a special rejuvenating serum to the skin!

"She has one in each of her six homes — and now she won't leave home without one," one member of Madonna's entourage revealed.

Michael had a similar set-up with a hyperbaric chamber — which contained more oxygen than normal air — believing it would help him live to be 150!

It was The ENQUIRER that exclusively published the first picture of the tragic superstar inside the glass box in 1986.

As for Madonna's magic machine, "I don't know if it works or not, but she looks pretty good for a 57-year-old," one insider observed.

But what's really raised the eyebrows of people around her is her devotion to Jewish spiritualism.

"She demands an assigned seat on her jet for the Torah, books of Hebrew scripture and other sacred Hebrew writings," said the source.

"Forget cattle class. The Torah flies private!"

Madonna has studied Kabbalah, a form of Jewish mysticism, for many years. In 2004, she took the name Esther. She also visited holy sites in Israel and was said to, at one point, be looking to buy a home to be near an Israeli Kabbalah center.

What's more, proving her demands are more outrageous than her exhibitionism, Madonna also insists that her hotel room, while traveling on tour, is in complete and utter darkness!

"If it is not completely black in the room with the curtains closed, she freaks out," said a source.

"She even demands that hotel staff neatly tape black-out paper to each window, so that the window can still open."

Said a top music informant: "Madonna has probably the longest list of requirements of any of the world's music stars. She expects things to be just right or it puts her off her stage show!" NE

PIZZAS EQUAL
ONE 800-LB MAN

Steven Assanti is living in his dad's car after the hospital kicked him out

A NASTY PIZZA WORK!

Cheesed-off hospital boots 800-lb patient for ordering some slices!

A DANGEROUSLY fat patient was tossed out of a hospital for having a pizza delivered to his bed!

Now 800 pounds, Steven Assanti is living in his dad's car and frantically seeking help to beat the eating addiction that threatens to claim his life.

The 33-year-old was in a Rhode Island Hospital on a diet plan to slim down to the relatively svelte weight of 550 pounds — just to become eligible for life-saving gastric-bypass surgery. But he couldn't control his suicidal urge to sink his teeth into a delicious slice!

Sadly, his desperate need for cheese earned him a premature release from the hospital because it violated his care plan, which had resulted in him losing 20 pounds during an 80-day stay.

Steven had proclaimed his addiction to TV shrink Dr. Phil McGraw on the doc's daytime talk show in 2007.

After trying and failing to help Steven with his self-destructive lifestyle, a frustrated Dr. Phil asked: "You gonna live like this the rest of your life?"

"I won't make it the rest of my life if I live like this. I will die," Steven answered.

His father, Steven Veillette, said the hospital's abrupt decision to throw Steven out with the pizza box could be a death sentence for his son.

"If he comes home, he's gonna go right back to his (bad) eating habits," said Veillette.

So he's loaded Steven into their SUV and is making a national plea for another institution to help his son in his frantic quest to lose weight.

On Oct. 8, Steven was admitted to nearby Kent Hospital's emergency area, but was only allowed to stay the weekend.

"I don't know who to turn to," said his distraught dad.

Father and son are now checking out another hospital in nearby North Attleborough, Mass., and using the Internet to cry for help.

In a video posted online, young Steven said: "I would like to thank all my supporters (and those on) my Facebook page and also to all the negative comments that give me a thicker skin."

"Hopefully in the future, there will be a positive follow-up." NE

Night Proofs™ Briefs are virtually leak proof, comfortable and so absorbent you'll sleep through the night without needing a change.

It's a problem no one likes to talk about, but over 25 million Americans suffer from urinary incontinence. For those people, the problem is embarrassing, uncomfortable and can lead to a variety of other health issues such as skin irritation. Now there's an adult diaper that fully absorbs the liquid and pulls it away from the skin leaving little opportunity for skin irritation, or other incontinence-related problems. Plus for many, a good night's sleep uninterrupted, leak-free is the best news of all. Adult diapers have been on the market for years, but because most are sold to hospitals, where frequent changing is not an issue, they simply have not been designed to last through the night. Night Proofs™ Briefs are—and they do!

Our Leak-Proof Test:

Take a Night Proofs™ Briefs and pour eight full 12-oz glasses of water into it. The water will be fully absorbed and the surface of the lining will remain dry. (If you attempt this test with other adult diapers, you better try it over the sink!)

Night Proofs™ Briefs are different:

They are one of the most absorbent adult diapers on the market today. Just one look tells you that Night Proofs™ Briefs are very different from store brands.

- They are much thicker – with a superior design that keeps working all night so you can sleep in peace.
- The polyethylene back prevents leaks and provides 12-hour protection. Water passes through cloth diapers, but it doesn't penetrate the poly back. It's that simple.
- They are designed for home use, with refastenable tabs, leak-proof leg cuffs and a wetness indicator that caregivers really appreciate. They're also adjustable, breathable, and latex-free as well as odor resistant and discreet.

Why spend another night without them?

OPRAH'S SECRET SON
finally reveals the crushing pain of being abandoned:

'I thought about suicide.
It was like I lost the world at one point'

TALK show queen Oprah Winfrey has a "secret son" — a boy she turned her back on in a devastating act of betrayal!

In a bombshell world exclusive interview, a heartbroken Calvin Mitchell has claimed Oprah, 61, once tried to adopt him — only to leave him as a teenager — in a move which sent him spiraling toward suicide.

Choking back tears, Calvin told The National ENQUIRER: "I want to ask Oprah, 'Why did you leave me? Why did you leave me?'"

He added: "I'm still empty. I'm still searching. I don't have closure to this. I just don't understand."

Calvin met Oprah as a tender 12-year-old in 1993 when he was cast as an extra on the ABC-TV urban drama, "There Are No Children Here."

One day, he slipped past security on the set, picked a Diet Coke out of a cooler, and handed it to Oprah.

Touched by his precociousness, Oprah — worth an estimated $3 billion — hired him as her so-called "personal body-

WHY REJECTION HIT CALVIN SO HARD

By consulting a teen therapist, Oprah Winfrey could have ended her relationship with Calvin Mitchell on a healthier note, said a renowned relationship expert. "What Oprah does is succeed brilliantly. So if she felt like she had failed this kid, she also felt as if she had failed herself," Dr. Gilda Carle told The National ENQUIRER. "She was uneducated about teen psychology. She took it (him dropping out of school) personally."

guard," Calvin told The ENQUIRER.

But her real motivation was to save him from the poverty, gangs and the mean streets of Henry Horner Homes — a housing project on Chicago's drug-infested West Side.

Even though tough-talking Oprah had declared it would be "unfair" for her to bring a child into the world and "expect the child to fit into my lifestyle," she secretly developed a mother-son relationship with Calvin.

After the movie finished filming, Calvin visited Oprah at her office every week where she would help him with homework.

She also took him to her sprawling Indiana farm on weekends, where she taught him to read. When Calvin's mom couldn't afford new clothes or sneakers for him, Oprah took him shopping.

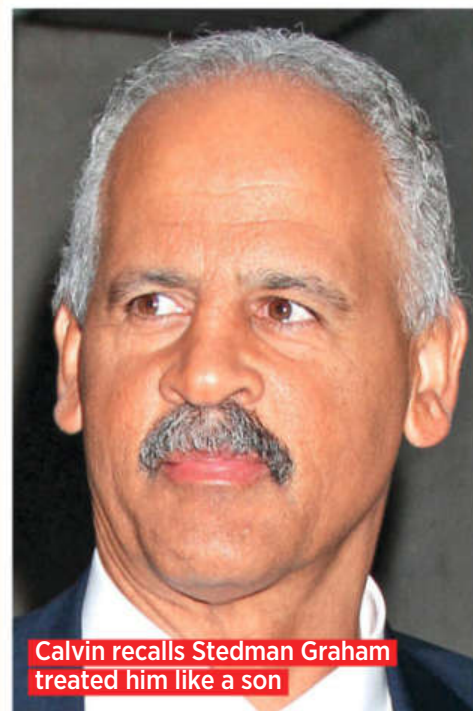

AT ONE STAGE, the big-hearted television host begged her longtime live-in love, Stedman Graham, to allow Calvin to move into their mansion — but he nixed the idea.

"Only if you are willing to move in his whole family," he reportedly said.

Undeterred, Oprah pressed on with her pursuit, and even asked Calvin's mom to make the ultimate sacrifice as a parent!

"Oprah asked my mom if she could adopt me, but my mom denied her," Calvin, now a 35-year-old truck driver living in Illinois, told The ENQUIRER.

When he reached high school age, Oprah paid for Calvin to attend The Piney Woods School, a prestigious Christian-based boarding school for

But a homesick Calvin decided to drop out in his junior year, despite Oprah's impassioned pleas that he remain at the school and graduate.

"I just wanted to come home, and Oprah didn't understand that," said Calvin.

"She told me, 'Calvin, just try to work it out. You can do it. Just hang in there.'"

"She was trying to inspire me to do what was right. But even after the long pep talk she gave me, I still left."

Ashamed, Calvin waited a month before summoning up the courage to visit Oprah's Harpo Studios, where one of her assistants greeted him — and Calvin and Oprah's relationship exploded.

Calvin recalled: "He said to me, 'Calvin, man, you blew it. You had something that a lot of kids wish they had.' He was telling me in so many words, 'Oprah ain't messing with you anymore.'"

Though Calvin enrolled in high school in the Chicago area, he dropped out a second time.

Shunned by Oprah, he succumbed to a deep depression, and even thought about killing himself!

"By leaving school, I'd failed my whole family. I'd let everybody down," he said.

"But I thought Oprah and Stedman

BIG-screen beauty Julia Roberts is caught in a terrifying nightmare over scary threats by her alcohol-addled sister-in-law!

Boozy bully Jyl Moder warned next-door neighbors in Palm Desert, Calif., she would harm them if they didn't butt out of her life!

Terrified, they slapped Jyl, 49, and her live-in fiancé — who got into a violent, liquor-fueled fracas earlier this year — with a temporary restraining order.

The ugly incident has triggered even more turmoil in Julia's already troubled 13-year marriage to Jyl's brother, Danny Moder, sources said.

"Julia is fed up with Jyl's bizarre, boozy behavior," explained a source close to Julia and Danny.

"This has been an issue with her for years now, and it hasn't gotten any better. Julia says she's 'sick and tired' of trying to help clean up the Moders' messes.

"It's driven a real wedge between her and Danny."

THE COUPLE HAVE fought furiously over Danny's troubled big sis, who's bounced in and out of rehab and been busted three times on DUI charges.

According to court documents obtained exclusively by The National ENQUIRER, Jyl's latest incident involved her writing a note to her neighbors that read: "Mind your own business! Or I'll get in yours. Do not call our families!"

The note also included a picture of what appeared to be a car running over two stick people. The documents further claimed Jyl's fiancé — 58-year-old punk rocker Blaine Chaney — threw garbage onto neighbors' property.

The pair admitted to a police officer they made the death threat, but the officer noted the couple were highly intoxicated at the time.

As The ENQUIRER exclusively reported, Jyl was also busted for domestic violence after she got into a fight with her fiancé on July 20.

She grinned for the camera in her mug shot and was jailed in Indio, Calif., where she was held on $50,000 bail after allegedly battering Blaine following an argument.

According to the California penal code, such charges mean she “willfully inflicted corporal injury” that left her victim in a “traumatic condition.”

A former neighbor of Jyl's confirmed Danny, 46, had been to his sister's home, and he appeared to be trying to help his troubled sister out.

But the source said Danny's Oscar-winning wife, 47, always kept her distance, adding: “Julia Roberts will have nothing to do with them.”

JYL HAS CARRIED a serious grudge against Julia for years, believing Danny's affair with the Hollywood star contributed to their mother, Patti, having a fatal heart attack in 2001, sources said.

“Jyl even called Julia ‘the devil’ at a family wedding!” an insider told The ENQUIRER.

But Jyl isn't the only member of the Moder clan who's on Julia's blacklist.

The “Pretty Woman” star got fed up with helping Danny's dad — retired film exec Mike Moder, 79 — pay his mortgages. After an ugly row, she forced him to sell two homes, sources said.

“Julia said she doled out millions of dollars in mortgage payments for Mike. She helped him out for at least five years, and she got tired of footing the bill,” added an insider.

In an exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER, Jyl insisted she's quit drinking — and apologized for her liquored-up antics.

“I'm in recovery,” she said. “They dropped the charges against me. My fiancé and I are doing better, and I'm mending fences with my brother and Julia.

“She's a great wife and a great mother, and I want their marriage to be okay.”

SEE A DIVORCE LAWYER NOW, FRIENDS URGE JULIA

PALS are pushing Julia Roberts to shop for a good divorce lawyer as a whopping $225 million split is expected after the holidays!

Sources told The National ENQUIRER the big-lipped “Eat Pray Love” star is seriously considering pulling the plug on her 13-year marriage to Danny Moder, but will likely wait a bit.

“Julia is not a quitter, but she knows the marriage is doomed and will probably end it after the holidays so the couple can be with their children,” said a close source.

“Her pals have told her it's time to shop for a divorce lawyer — she doesn't want to, but realizes that's the next step.”

The pair are already living apart, as The ENQUIRER reported earlier this year.

Julia and their three kids — twins Hazel and Phinnaeus, 10, and son Henry, 8 — are moving with her to Santa Barbara, Calif., while Danny stays behind in Malibu.

Julia was “fed up” with Danny after he boycotted a string of family events, including her mother's funeral in Georgia, and her sister Lisa's birthday in New York City, insiders revealed.

“He may be good with the kids, but Julia feels he just isn't there for her emotionally anymore,” another source told The ENQUIRER. “She hit the roof when he was a no-show at her sister's birthday party. His excuse was he was too busy with work.”

Julia and Danny have had a long history of crossing swords, especially when it comes to the movie industry.

In 2004, the pair got into a furious blowup when he backed out of escorting her to the Academy Awards — dumping her just before Hollywood's biggest event!

It was the second year in a row that the camera-shy cameraman was a no-show at the Oscars, leaving her fuming!

In 2007, Danny bolted to Bali for a getaway with his pals, leaving Julia with the kids as tensions rose at home.

Julia was furious because she has always helped out her hubby by kicking in money to boost his career as a cameraman, the source claimed.

“Julia's done numerous projects with Danny, and each one turned into a financial nightmare,” said the source.

That includes losing her money on the 2008 indie film “Fireflies in the Garden,” for which Danny was director of photography.

“Julia doesn't give up easily,” added the first source. “But she and her friends know that it's time to move on.” NE

COSBY SEX ATTACK CAUGHT ON SECRET VIDEO!

SECRET video evidence could nail Bill Cosby for a 2008 sex attack at the famed Playboy Mansion, The National ENQUIRER has learned.

As Los Angeles authorities consider charging Cosby for the assault, The ENQUIRER has exclusively obtained top-secret blueprints that pinpoint the location of every camera at the 22,000-square-foot party palace.

Videotapes from those cameras could back up the claims of blonde beauty Chloe Goins, who's accused the creepy comic of sexually assaulting her at the mansion when she was just 18.

Cosby, 78, stands accused of attacking more than 100 women in a drug and rape scandal. The assaults span 43 years, from 1965 — just a year after Cosby married wife Camille — to 2008 when Chloe said she was attacked.

While Cosby's lawyers have repeatedly denied the allegations, video proof of Chloe's assault could finally put him behind bars!

"I know they've got about 16 cameras at the mansion," said an insider, who provided The ENQUIRER with the never-before-seen blueprints.

Chloe, a model, was with a pal when she said she began feeling faint after sipping on a drink prepared for her by the Chloe said Cosby escorted her to one of the mansion's bedrooms where she later woke up to find the former Jell-O pitchman nibbling on her toes with his pants around his ankles!

After conducting an investigation, L.A. Police Department detectives forwarded the case on Oct. 1 to the District Attorney's Sex Crimes Division to determine whether charges will be filed, Greg Risling, a spokesman for the district attorney's office, told The ENQUIRER.

On Oct. 6, Chloe slapped Cosby with a federal lawsuit listing the names of women who have publicly accused Cosby of attacking them, and descriptions of the assaults.

According to her attorney, Spencer Kuvin, the suit was filed in federal court to take advantage of its powerful subpoena power to summon victims from across the country to testify against Cosby.

"I am going to be able to bring to court almost 50 victims with the same exact story to tell," Kuvin said. "I think that will be a pretty impressive list of women to show that he has a 'habit pattern' of practice."

Kuvin also said he alerted the LAPD to the videos but doesn't know if authorities confiscated the evidence.

Said Kuvin: "We're hopeful that they now have that information, and now that we are in federal litigation we'll be able to subpoena it."

KENNEDY BOOZING TELL-ALL RIPS THE FAMILY APART!

Painful memories could hit fragile Joan hard

FRIENDS fear troubled Joan Kennedy will return to the bottle after a vicious war broke out in the famous family. The National ENQUIRER has learned!

Patrick Kennedy — the youngest son of Joan and the late Senator Ted Kennedy — has created a firestorm by exposing the family's struggles with alcohol and mental-health issues in a new tell-all book.

"Patrick's airing all of the family dirt!" a source told The ENQUIRER. "It's embarrassing to Joan — and to everyone else in the family! But Joan is the most fragile — and there's worry she'll reach for the bottle in response!"

In his book "A Common Struggle," former Rhode Island Congressman Patrick, 48, details how he and his sister Kara — who died of a heart attack at the age of 51 in 2011 — and brother Ted Jr., 54, were so concerned about their father's notorious drinking that they staged an intervention in 1991.

"We think you're drinking too much," Ted's children told him. "Then we all cried." But Ted Sr. didn't want to hear it — and told them he felt they were siding with "those people" outside of the family, then stormed out of the room.

Patrick Kennedy

"He took it the exact opposite way we had hoped," Patrick writes of his father, who died of brain cancer in 2009.

Patrick, who has struggled with his own addiction issues, also said his relationship with Ted Sr. became so frayed that his father refused to let him stay with him when he was in Washington or his home state of Massachusetts!

Patrick confessed his mother Joan, 79, suffered from a "dark, disabling alcoholism," was in and out of rehab and spent most her time drinking in her room alone.

Joan was arrested for driving under the influence in 1974, 1991 and 2000, and in March 2005 was found passed out on a Boston sidewalk. In June 2005 her estate and personal affairs were put under the charge of two trustees.

Patrick also said his father berated him for going public with his addiction after he crashed his car into a barricade near the U.S. Capitol in 2006 while on prescription drugs! NE

WILD CHILD KYRA LIVING DANGEROUSLY

In another Kennedy scandal, Robert F. Kennedy's wild child daughter Kyra has been scolded for sharing partying pics.

A source said: "Kyra has been warned repeatedly ... but she doesn't seem to listen!"

Kyra, 20, also sent family members into a tizzy with the tweet: "Caviar, Gold Flake Champagne, & Cocaine only."

LEAH REMINI'S 'PRISON CAMP' NIGHTMARE!

SCIIENTOLOGY turncoat Leah Remini was forced to undergo brutal "behavior modification" inside a church lockdown after questioning its leader!

The punishment was carried out after "The King of Queens" star "dared to ask" David Miscavige "where his wife, Shelly, was" when he showed up alone at Tom Cruise's 2006 wedding to Katie Holmes — where David served as best man.

That's the claim Leah, 45, who has since left the church, will reveal in a soon-to-be published book, an insider exclusively told The National ENQUIRER.

The tell-all, expected to savage the shadowy religion, is titled "Troublemaker: Surviving Hollywood and Scientology."

While the church has denied Leah's allegations, a publisher's memo, obtained by The ENQUIRER, described the "behavior modification" as "brutal treatment" at Scientology's Flag Land Base in Clearwater, Fla., and said Leah was billed $300,000 by the church.

Scientology defector Amy Scobee said a possible punishment is to "run around a pole" for a half-hour or more. Other punishments include "sleep deprivation and isolation," she added. And former Scientologist Jon Attack said: "It's like a prison camp, where they break you down mentally!"

Another defector, Margery Wakefield, once a top church leader, said: "Food could also have been kept from her for periods of time."

Jim Carrey in 'dirt file' stunner

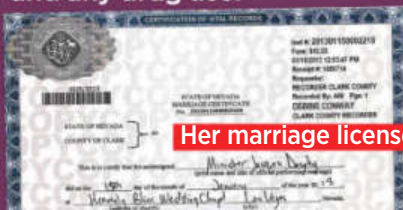

JIM Carrey's suicidal girlfriend may have revealed personal details about the Hollywood star to Scientology officials!

"It's very likely Scientology compiled 'a dirt file' on Jim because he once lashed out at the church," a church informant told The National ENQUIRER.

Since Cathriona White was found dead in her Sherman Oaks, Calif. home Sept. 28 from a suspected drug overdose, The ENQUIRER has learned Jim's on-again, off-again girlfriend took classes at Scientology's Celebrity Centre in Los Angeles.

Though the church has denied compiling a Carrey file, an insider said: "Scientology likes to obtain secrets for blackmail purposes and she would likely have been asked about Jim's sex life, his reported battles with depression and any drug use."

Her marriage license

"The Mask" star criticized the church in a 2003 interview, declaring: "I actually got into Scientology for a while ... and that's how I got this nice glazed look in my eyes."

In another twist, it's emerged the 30-year-old Irish makeup artist was married to a man named Mark Burton.

The ENQUIRER obtained the marriage license, which shows the nuptials took place at a Las Vegas chapel in January 2013. The couple separated and were planning to divorce, sources said. NE would still be a part of my life. At one point, it was like I'd lost my whole world, and I thought about suicide!"

He said: "I was young and I made a dumb decision. But I feel like what she did was wrong."

LIVID AT the way Calvin has been treated, his biological mother, Eva, told The ENQUIRER that she hasn't gotten over Oprah's secret plan to adopt.

"It felt strange because I felt if someone wanted to help me with my children, that's one thing," she told The ENQUIRER. "But to actually adopt one child knowing I have others?"

"I couldn't allow her to separate my children."

Adding cause to the concern was Oprah's tragic upbringing and her bold statements that she was unsure she could ever be a parent.

"What parenthood takes one-on-one, I don't have," Oprah once admitted. "I don't know if I have what it takes to do it correctly."

Oprah's mom, Vernita Lee, never married Oprah's father, Vernon. She was raised by her maternal grandmother until she was shipped off to live with her mom when she was nine.

After a few years, Oprah was uprooted again, this time to live with her dad in Nashville. She had a child out of wedlock at age 15, but the baby was premature and didn't survive.

Then came her painful admission to her family that her uncle — who she claimed repeatedly abused her as a child — was most likely the baby's father.

"I'm not maternal," she insisted at one point. "I have to put that down to my unhappy childhood."

SOMEHOW, THOUGH, Calvin was able to trigger that maternal instinct in Oprah. Today, he still recounts happier times with the woman whom he considered to be a de facto mother.

"Oprah and Stedman were like family to me," Calvin told The ENQUIRER.

"Stedman used to take me to Chicago Bulls games, and we went to the black rodeo that he hosted every year. We all had a close relationship."

To prove the point, Calvin said that whenever Oprah gave him a gift, she'd write: "To my son Calvin, I love you."

Calvin briefly reunited with Oprah in 2009 when she sponsored a free concert along Chicago's Michigan Avenue.

Thrilled, he left his phone number with her bodyguard, but she never called him.

"If it were my child, regardless of what that child did, they still would be a part of my life."

"Oprah and I had grown so tight that I thought she'd be a part of my life — forever. I'm heartbroken that she is not."

Miranda's hunky hit list!

WHILE Blake Shelton has been dueting with "Voice" co-star Gwen Stefani and bragging Rihanna has the hots for him, his ex, Miranda Lambert, is on a manhunt for a hot new collaborator!

"Since their July divorce, Blake certainly hasn't let any grass grow under his feet — and now Miranda's stepping up her game!" a source told The National ENQUIRER.

Insiders said the 31-year-old country queen has three hunks on her immediate hit list: Jake Owen, Chris Young and Brett Eldredge.

Singer Jake, 34, split from wife Lacey Buchanan in August, and has been friends with Miranda for years.

"He's a warmhearted man who's going through the same tough time Miranda is," a friend said.

Meanwhile, Chris was a major factor in the Blake-Miranda split. Reports had Miranda secretly seeing him during the marriage. He's denied the affair, but sources said Chris, 30, and Miranda have been close since he was an opener on her 2012 tour.

Then there's handsome 29-year-old Brett. "A lot of Miranda's gal pals think he would be the perfect guy for Miranda," shared the source.

The friend added Miranda has also had crushes on Hollywood actors like Jake Gyllenhaal, 34, and Jared Leto, 43.

"Miranda would love to get introductions to those two," the source said.

"But she's definitely not going to be hurting for dates!"

The 59-year-old even drew up a contract for Kourtney to sign, the insider said.

But Kris' motives are nothing more than money, revealed the source. "She's been freaking out over failing ratings and thinks she can jump-start the show with Scott's return."

PRENUP STRIKES SOUR NOTE FOR CHRISTINA'S WEDDING PLANS!

"VOICE" star Christina Aguilera and fiancé Max Rutler just can't find harmony on the details of a prenup and insiders said it's thrown a monkey wrench into their wedding plans!

The couple got engaged in 2014 and have a baby daughter, Summer Rain, but can't get together on marriage details.

"They almost called off the wedding while they were working through the money issues in May," divulged a source.

Carter's texts demanded suicide

'You always say you're gonna do it, but you never do'

Tragic Conrad followed orders

AMERICA'S most despicable teen will face manslaughter charges because cops said she used a barrage of gruesome text messages to relentlessly pressure her boyfriend into killing himself!

The ultimate high-school "Mean Girl" — Michelle Carter, 18, of Wrentham, Mass. — directed her depressed boyfriend, Conrad Roy III, also 18, to take his own life.

"You always say you're gonna do it, but you never do," Carter complained in one of the more than 1,000 texts the two teens shared.

On the night he tried to

Chilling text sent by TWISTED TEEN before lover killed himself follow through with her twisted mission, Conrad got cold feet and climbed out of his Ford pickup while it filled with deadly carbon monoxide fumes.

But Carter made sure he finished the job.

"Get back in the truck!" said a terrifying final text.

Conrad's lifeless body was found by police in a K-Mart parking lot on July 12, 2014 — inches away from the cell phone police said Carter used to kill him.

Investigators quickly found the damning text messages on the phone — including one asking Conrad to delete her incriminating messages.

"Carter 'encouraged him to commit suicide and guided him in his engagement of activities which led to his death,'" said Gregg Miliote, of the Bristol County District Attorney's Office.

Prosecutors said Carter helped Conrad research suicide methods and repeatedly browbeat him for not having the courage to kill himself!

"You better not be bullsh--ing me and saying you're gonna do this and then purposely get caught," read one disturbing message.

"You just need to do it."

If convicted, the suspected killer coach faces 20 years in the slammer.

Stunningly, Carter's attorney, Joseph Cataldo, said she was "brainwashed" by a boy determined to commit suicide. The day after Conrad died, Carter took to the Internet to make everyone aware of her "grief" and her desire to help others! NE

Vicious blow to the head left Bubba out cold

HILLARY Clinton beat cheating husband Bill senseless during a violent White House brawl, The National ENQUIRER has learned in a bombshell world exclusive!

The ugly incident — revealed here for the first time — unfolded during one of the former first couple's scraps over Monica Lewinsky, revealed a top Washington insider.

"It was around the time of Bill's famous 'I did not have sexual relations with that woman' TV speech, and Hillary had gotten all worked up," the source said.

"She grabbed a heavy leather-bound book off a table in their private family quarters and swung it at Bill's head. The volume's spine hit him squarely in the back of the head, and he went down!"

"He was unconscious. She'd knocked him out cold!"

According to the source, the White House doctor was summoned, but the incident, which occurred at the height of then President Clinton's

"Zippergate" scandal in 1998, was hushed up.

Hillary's violent nature has now been exposed as her history of spousal abuse is revealed in the blockbuster new book, "The Clintons' War On Women."

In the book, obtained by The ENQUIRER, co-author Roger Stone wrote: "Hillary Clinton has a long history of being domestically violent with Bill.

"Hillary has beaten Bill, hit him with hard objects, scratched and clawed him, and made him bleed."

Roger, a leading political strategist, also reported Hillary was furious when she learned Bill's admirer, superstar Barbra Streisand, spent

Brain butcherer

WHITE House wannabe Ben Carson pocketed a fat five-figure fee while touting a cure for cancer that was later called an "illegal marketing scheme."

A week after The National ENQUIRER reported the Republican candidate allegedly butchered a patient's brain, Carson has now been exposed for his connection with a shady operation. In a 2004 speech, the retired neurosurgeon claimed he was prescribed herbal supplements after being diagnosed with a "very high-grade malignant" form of prostate cancer.

Carson declared: "Within about three weeks my symptoms went away and I was really quite amazed!"

The supplements, marketed by Mannatech Inc., are made the night at the White House while Hillary visited her dying father in Arkansas.

Upon the first lady's return, "Clinton had a bump on his head the size of a goose egg," wrote Roger.

The ENQUIRER learned of the incident at the time, and reported "lamps were heaved, books and bottles of perfume hurled through the air."

A source also said: "Hillary got her nails on Bill's face and neck and scratched away."

Bill's former press secretary, Dee Dee Myers, later admitted she covered for the first lady, adding: "I'm the idiot who said he'd cut himself shaving before I'd seen him. Then I saw him — it was a big scratch, clearly not a shaving cut. Barbra Streisand was clearly around at the time."

Roger wrote that in another scuffle, Hillary threw "an ash-tray at the president," and "slapped him across the face — hard enough to leave a red mark that would be clearly visible to Secret Service agents when he left the room."

According to the book, Hillary — who's now gunning for the Oval Office — called her skirt-chasing husband: "You stupid, stupid, stupid bastard."

Added the source: "With a spousal abuse scandal, it's possible Hillary could be charged with beating the former president. She may not end up in the White House — but in jail!"

from ingredients such as larch-tree bark.

And despite Carson's claims, a shocking new report has revealed his enthusiasm may have more to do with money than science.

The Texas-based outfit paid him $42,000 for a 2013 appearance, and a charity affiliated with Carson received donations for three other speeches he gave.

The ENQUIRER has also learned Mannatech agreed to pay $6 million in 2009 to Texas customers after the state charged the firm with falsely claiming that it could cure several diseases, including Down syndrome and cystic fibrosis, as well as cancer!

The firm's former medical director, H. Reginald "Dr. Reg" McDaniel, is still shilling cure-alls — he is now marketing an "innovative dietary supplement" to help Alzheimer's patients, which affects millions in the U.S.

When questioned about The ENQUIRER's bombshell investigation into the malpractice suits filed against him, Carson blustered: "My reaction is that I did 15,000 operations. And the people who oppose me have ... found five or six disgruntled people.

That's a very small number."

But he admitted leaving a sponge in one patient's brain during surgery. "It is true that we put a certain type of sponge in ... sometimes there is a reaction to that sponge, and that's what happened," Carson said.

A leading medical malpractice lawyer, James Girards, told The ENQUIRER: "This is just mind-boggling!" NE

LOVE & PASSION IN THE HOUSE OF REPROBATES!

WHISPERS of a hot new “marry-go-round” in Washington, D.C., have sparked comparisons to the political series “House of Cards!”

The nation’s capital is in overdrive over rumors of an outrageous affair between two married Republican members of Congress — Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy and Congresswoman Renee Ellmers.

Both politicians have vehemently denied the rumors, and aides for both have declined to talk to reporters.

But if true, Kevin may have stolen a page right out of the script of the hit Netflix drama.

In the D.C.-set soap, actor Kevin Spacey’s character — a House Majority Whip who went on to become vice president and then president — carried on an affair with a sexy female reporter.

A source told The National ENQUIRER: “To research the behind-the-scenes of Congress, Kevin Spacey actually followed Kevin McCarthy around, and the two became fast friends.

“Now, the buzz around D.C. is — which came first, the affair on the show or the rumored affair in real life?”

The rumors involving Kevin, a 50-year-old from California, hit fever pitch when he abruptly withdrew on Oct. 8 from the race to succeed John Boehner as Speaker of the House.

Capitol sources hinted

Actor Kevin Spacey and Congressman Kevin McCarthy became friends during the filming of “House of Cards” he’s romantically linked to 51-year-old Renee of North Carolina.

The New York Times reportedly fueled the rumors when it reported in 2011 that the two were caught behaving flirtatiously, writing: “... She claps her hands loudly in front of his face. Sometimes McCarthy giggles and claps back.”

The Department of Homeland Security, meanwhile, announced it is investigating whether one of its employees changed Wikipedia pages for Kevin and Renee alleging that they had an affair. NE

Horndog Johnson cheats on Wayne Gretzky's daughter!

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE golf superstar Dustin Johnson makes Tiger Woods look like an amateur — when it comes to bad behavior!

The PGA Tour's wild man is cheating on his fiancée and baby mama, Paulina Gretzky, and was caught using cocaine. The National ENQUIRER has learned in a blockbuster world exclusive.

In a series of tell-tale photos and video, The ENQUIRER caught Dustin, 31, reuniting with his alleged mistress, former model Alli MacKenzie, now the ex-wife of the golfer's pro pal, Will MacKenzie.

On Aug. 17, Dustin and Alli frolicked at a Publix supermarket in South Florida behind the back of Paulina — who's the 26-year-old daughter of hockey legend Wayne Gretzky, and gave birth to Dustin's first child in January.

Dustin — ranked eighth in the world — can be seen lovingly putting his arm around Alli as they push separate grocery carts down the aisle!

"She's looking up at him, and he's looking at her," said an eyewitness.

"They looked super flirty, and like they were going to kiss."

Alli admitted to the encounter, but insisted to The ENQUIRER it was totally innocent.

"I ran into an old friend buying baby food for his son at Publix," she said. "I wish Paulina, Tatum and Dustin the very best start in their lives together."

BUT MAKING their food store rendezvous all the more intriguing, Dustin was accused last year of a "sexual indiscretion with at least one wife of a PGA Tour player" — reported at the time to be Alli.

While the pair denied the affair, a close friend — who passed an independently administered polygraph examination — revealed to The ENQUIRER the romance goes back to at least 2013 — after Dustin began dating Paulina!

Dustin and Alli often traded texts, talked on the phone and met for intimate nights at his Florida mansion, the source said.

"Typically Dustin would only contact Alli if he was free of Paulina," said the source.

"They would talk on the phone and she'd be like a smitten schoolgirl — all giddy. She loved attention from Dustin, and he obviously loved her sexiness."

After his phone calls, busty blonde Alli often left "shortly after, saying, 'I'm going out for a while,'" said the source.

"Alli would do her hair and makeup, but she'd always dress down in tight yoga pants and a sexy T-shirt because they wouldn't leave the house."

What's more, the golfer was worried about being caught, said the source, who sometimes accompanied Alli to his Jupiter, Fla., home.

"Dustin was always very careful about who was there, and what we did with our phones," the source said. "I was told in no uncertain terms, 'no photos,' while at his house."

But Dustin flirted like crazy with Alli, said the source.

"Once they were putting on his backyard putting green, and Dustin kissed her on the lips. Then Alli said, 'Bye, y'all!' and they disappeared for a few hours," said the source.

During one encounter in October 2013, the source found Dustin and Alli in bed together.

"It was 2 or 3 a.m., and I

FOODS THAT FIGHT DEPRESSION!

THESE days, lots of people take antidepressants prescribed by their doctors. But before resorting to expensive visits and pills, shop for a different option — in Mother Nature's drugstore! Experts recommend these plant-based foods to promote optimal mental health: Sweet potatoes offer great carbs and contain an amino acid known to help prevent depression and anxiety. Avocados are high in beneficial fats for the brain and a B vitamin that reduces anxiety. Broccoli is a good source of vitamin B6, which helps you relax.

TOP IDEAS FOR FIGHTING HEADACHES

MORE than 47 million Americans have experienced a severe headache in the past three months. And if you're averse to overdosing on pain medication, there are natural alternatives. Apply hot and cold packs to the spot from which the pain radiates. Keep your room quiet and cool. Drink a cup of coffee or other caffeinated drink to increase blood flow to your head. Drink plenty of water to fend off dehydration. Back and neck exercises and stretching also help alleviate head pain. Hunger is often a key trigger of headache pain.

DOES YOUR DOCTOR COME TO WORK SICK?

THE next time you see your doctor, you better give him a checkup, too! A new study shows many health professionals go to work with a cough or cold — or even worse! Julia Szymczak at The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia surveyed 500 physicians, nurses and other health-care professionals — and 83 percent of them admitted they'd gone to work while ill! The study, reported by the Journal of the American Medical Association, said health professionals report to duty with more than garden-variety sniffles — they work with fevers, diarrhea and significant respiratory symptoms that can be passed on to clients! So wear a surgical mask to your next checkup!

Get a good night's sleep naturally

WHEN your mind and body refuse to let you sleep, you can hit the snooze button with two easy solutions: melatonin and kava kava. Both are made in non-prescription tablets that are widely available at your nearest drugstore or supermarket. Melatonin is a hormone that causes drowsiness. Sunlight stops the body from producing it. So outdoorsy types who need an extra boost can take it in supplement form. If anxiety and restlessness are the reasons behind your insomnia, try kava kava, believed to act on brain chemistry, causing sedation and relaxation effects.

REVOLUTIONARY WEIGHT LOSS WITH XENADRINE®!

XENADRINE Ultimate has introduced a new advanced vitamin/health weight loss formula! Its premium green coffee extract offers a scientifically researched weight loss ingredient and its caffeine provides a metabolic intensifier and maximum energy to help you feel energized and enhance your focus. Other ingredients — including L-Theanine and Yohimbe Bark — are already popular in sports supplements and provide an unparalleled sensory experience. And with the improved dosing, two servings a day provide you with 50 percent more days of benefits! Available at Walmart stores for just $17.97!

BEAT COLDS THE OLD-FASHIONED WAY!

IT'S cold and flu season! There are no cures for the change-of-season woes, but you can still ease your suffering. Next time aches, pains and sniffles strike, try these tips: Blow your nose often. Sniffing sucks mucus back into your head. Gargle a teaspoon of salt dissolved in warm water four times a day to relieve a sore throat. Take a steamy shower. It will moisten nasal passages and clear out congestion.

Hot tips for getting a stranglehold on his heart!

THE game of love is tough at any age, but these sex-sational tips will give you the home court advantage with the man of your dreams!

■ MAKE HIM FEEL IMPORTANT

Men love to feel like they're appreciated. "I think it's good to compliment a guy on anything you see as really outstanding, because compliments generate a very positive environment," said bombshell actress Bai Ling.

■ STAY IN TOUCH

Touching is a huge indicator of attraction and affection — so don't be afraid to lay your hand on his arm, pat his shoulder or squeeze his rear as he walks by!

■ HELP HIM RELAX

Workday stress can put any guy out of the mood. Try offering him a massage, a favorite meal or maybe even a bubble bath for two!

■ PUT YOUR BEST SELF FORWARD

Primp, powder and pamper yourself while focusing on what you like about your face and your body. Flaunt those assets!

■ ESTABLISH INTIMACY

Get a man in the mood with plenty of eye contact. "Men often don't know how to gauge a woman's interest, so be firm. Let him know with a long, sultry look," advised Chris Ulrich of the Body Language Institute.

■ DO THINGS FOR HIM

Little rituals can help your man feel special, said relationship coach and author Pamela Madsen. "Bring him his coffee in the morning. Listen for the shower to be turned off, greet him with a towel and slowly dry him," she suggested.

■ FEED HIS PASSION

Some foods really fire up desire! Pomegranate juice is known to boost a man's sex drive, and chocolate and raw oysters are known aphrodisiacs. Mix up a pitcher of pomegranate lemonade, serve some chilled oysters — and save the chocolate sauce for a private dessert! NE

DOLLY'S STOMACH CANCER TORTURE!

She's hiding a DEADLY SECRET after being treated for ACUTE PAIN, say pals

DOLLY Parton's reclusive husband, Carl Dean, was at her side when the country queen suffered a secret medical crisis.

The National ENQUIRER has learned she was rushed to the hospital with kidney stones — but close friends fear she could be hiding an even more devastating secret: stomach cancer!

"Carl never accompanies her anywhere but he was with Dolly during her recent ordeal," said a worried pal. "He's been through a cancer battle with her before!"

According to the informant, Dolly, 69, was secretly hospitalized at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville under an assumed name after suffering intense pain from kidney stones.

"So far, the treatments haven't worked," said the source. "She's undergoing more testing. The scary thing is she has the symptoms of stomach cancer — and this is what she could be hiding."

Dolly has battled health scares before — and has been plagued with cancer fears for years. In a bombshell 2013 exclusive, The ENQUIRER revealed doctors implanted a groundbreaking medical device in the singer's throat during a tense, complicated five-hour operation.

Terrified Dolly opted to undergo the experimental treatment after a sudden dramatic weight loss sparked fears that she was suffering from deadly esophageal cancer, a source said at the time.

Dolly insisted on keeping her condition top secret!

"Dolly didn't want her friends, family and fans to worry about her, so the radical throat procedure was done under the tightest secrecy," an insider said.

Dolly has suffered from gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), or severe acid reflux, for several years.

Heartburn, sore throats, hoarseness and coughs are often caused by acid reflux — but the condition can also lead to esophageal cancer, medical experts have warned.

During the five-hour operation — which was supposed to last two — "surgeons discovered masses of scar tissue, which had to be removed and biopsied for cancer cells," said the source.

When it was over, she told friends there, "It went very well. I'm going to be fine."

But medical experts warned Dolly may not be completely cured, and she will need to undergo regular endoscopies to check for abnormalities.

Her new crisis is a chilling reminder for Dolly and Carl of the cancer scare.

"All the fears of her operation two years ago came back," said the source. "She dodged a bullet then."

But now, with her recent "unbelievable" pain, "she's worried her luck has run out," the source added.

started looking for them to say goodbye," recalled the source. "I walked into his bedroom, and saw Dustin on the right side of the bed. Alli was on the other side by the window, and they'd pulled a sheet over them. But I could tell they were naked, and they were obviously trashed."

ON THAT SAME visit, the source saw Dustin in his bedroom in front of a tray containing two small plastic bags. One was full of a white powdery substance, the other was empty, and a small mound of white powder was spread out on the tray next to a cluster of pills.

The source was hustled from the room, but told The ENQUIRER that Alli's ex-nanny — whose name is being withheld — later claimed the substances were cocaine and MDMA, a synthetic form of the party drug Ecstasy, commonly called Molly.

In July 2014, Dustin took a leave of absence from the sport to deal with "personal challenges." At the time, he'd failed three drug tests: one for marijuana in 2009 and two for cocaine in 2012 and 2014.

The golfer's reps insisted he is "living a happy and healthy life and is totally committed to Paulina, Tatum and the life they have built together."

But the scandal is bound to shake the tight-knit PGA community, which is still reeling from Tiger's dramatic fall from grace after The ENQUIRER exposed his double life as a sleazy serial cheater.

"Dustin is the next Tiger Woods!" said the source.

"It's time for an intervention — otherwise the tour will be rocked by yet another sex scandal of epic proportions!" NE

Enquiring minds want to know

CLINT'S POTTY PRUNES ORDEAL!

GO AHEAD and make Clint Eastwood's day — but it better be with prunes!

All The Buzz exclusively learned “Dirty Harry” showed up in New York City to shoot his latest film but brought along some unwanted baggage.

“Clint was constipated. He needed emergency room service at the hotel — prunes, lots of them!” a source said.

Luckily, with the help of the laxative-like fruit, the 85-year-old star “got regular again!”

And just in time — he had to go out on the water to direct his new film about “Miracle on the Hudson” pilot Captain Chesley “Sully” Sullenberger.

Added the source: “You don’t want to be out on the river looking for a bathroom.”

All The BUZZ

Angelina's '80s home

THE childhood home of Angelina Jolie — where the future film star began her dreams of Hollywood — is on the market for $2 million!

Angelina, now 40, grew up 20 miles from Manhattan in Palisades, N.Y. Her actress mother, Marcheline Bertrand, raised her and brother James Haven in the four-bedroom Rockland County home after divorcing Jon Voight.

The 4,000-square-foot property provided Marcheline with plenty of room to raise her children and launch a new career as a documentary filmmaker.

The home features overhanging eaves, exposed roof beams and 30-foot ceilings. There's added star power, too, with the house later owned by "Saturday Night Live" comic Joe Piscopo!

Schumer's SHOCKING STORY

HOT new comedian Amy Schumer said her more than $8 million book deal will bare her most heart-breaking sexual secrets!

"She's not going to leave anything (off) the table," an insider told All The Buzz.

The star of the hit film "Trainwreck" will tackle "a traumatic sexual experience" in a series of essays, said executives familiar with Amy's book proposal.

Amy, 34, has hinted in the past at the possibility she was raped.

"Most women I know ... have had a sexual experience that they were really uncomfortable with — and that if it wasn't completely rape, it was something very similar to rape," she said.

"There's a gray area of rape, and I call it 'grape.'"

Other topics in the book reportedly include her father's tragic battle with multiple sclerosis, which bankrupted Amy's family, and the alcoholism that nearly tore him apart!

"This is really going to be a shocking tell-all for her fans!" promised the source.

Doped-up divorce

ROSIE O'Donnell's adopted daughter, Chelsea, could end up in divorce court — testifying against her mom!

The 18-year-old recently went public with claims the former "View" host "smokes weed — not around us — but the whole house smells like it!"

The ENQUIRER exclusively reported last July that Rosie failed a court-ordered drug test, and tested positive for marijuana use.

"Chelsea's scathing comments against Rosie could be dragged into her custody battle!" an insider told All The Buzz.

Rosie, 53, was ordered to take drug tests as part of her nasty divorce battle with estranged wife Michelle Rounds over custody of their 2-year-old daughter, Dakota.

Michelle, 44, faces off again with Rosie in divorce court on Oct. 21.

"Chelsea could be subpoenaed to testify in court," said the spy, "which Rosie sure wouldn't want!"

Babs' house husband

BAD ratings for James Brodin could be great news for Barbra Streisand!

Her husband's new show, "Life in Pieces," is losing 6 million viewers when it follows "The Big Bang Theory," getting Barbra closer to her dream of a house husband!

"Their marriage was in trouble," a family friend told All The Buzz, "and James had promised Barbra, 'No more work until we're back on solid ground!'"

But James, 75, couldn't say no to another chance for television stardom.

That's why his 73-year-old wife doesn't mind the show's poor ratings!

"They need to face their problems and see if they're going to spend their golden years together," said the source.

"Barbra knows she can be hard to live with, but she'll be devastated if they don't make it!"

Classic ENQUIRER

THE world was shocked and saddened this week in 1980, as The National ENQUIRER revealed Steve McQueen was in the final weeks of a battle with inoperable lung cancer. The screen legend's brave final days — including his conversion into a born-again Christian — were revealed in an ENQUIRER exclusive. The 50-year-old actor passed away just weeks later on Nov. 7.

ASK THE VET

WITH DR. JEFF LACROIX

Owning a pet can be a rewarding but often puzzling experience. ENQUIRER columnist, top veterinarian Dr. Jeff LaCroix, answers the toughest questions about your four-legged friends.

Do I need pet health insurance? Opinions seem to differ!
Comparing policies can be difficult and frustrating. Most will not cover expenses related to hereditary conditions in certain breeds, and none will cover preexisting conditions. Prices vary and are mainly dependent on the level of care selected; $20 a month, with varying deductibles, can cover an "accident only" policy. Expect to pay $80 and up for a plan that covers routine care and illness. A feature to consider is "continuous coverage." Without it, if the pet develops a chronic condition while covered, the company can drop coverage or raise the premium at the policy's anniversary.

I question if there is savings in choosing routine coverage, since many practices offer a package for annual care. The value is in allowing you to afford the best care when your pet has a serious illness or accident.

Send questions to Ask The Vet, National Enquirer, P.O. Box 1831, New York, NY 10156 or letters@nationalenquirer.com.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

Peter Glazebrook grew this enormous squash!

Factory worker Gene McMullen (far left) grew "Gourdzilla" in Streator, Ill., and at more than one ton, that's a Great Pumpkin!

Attack of the

KILLER VEGETABLES!

REMEMBER to eat your greens — or they just might eat you!

With Halloween on the way, it seems growing spells have been cast on vegetables around the world, causing them to mutate into giants!

From the U.S. to Great Britain, talented gardeners have planted special seeds producing 150-pound cabbages, 65-pound cantaloupes and 35-pound broccoli!

The Wine and Harvest Festival in Cedarburg, Wis., and the Harrogate Autumn Flower Show in England have showcased man-sized monstrosities for years, and interest in both events has mushroomed nearly as big as the veggies themselves!

Ian Neale of England grew a cabbage weighing more than 53 pounds!

The British show in September has attracted as many as 40,000 veg heads annually during its 40-year run. This year it featured a 54-pound cabbage, 11-pound carrot, six-pound parsnip and a four-pound tomato.

But it's on this side of the pond where you'll find pumpkins as big as planets just in time for Halloween.

A 2,145-pound pumpkin just broke the record for freakish enormity in North America!

The farmer who produced the "Gourdzilla," Gene McMullen of Streator, Ill., spent 93 days growing the massive pumpkin.

Great Pumpkin Commonwealth officials verified the weight of the pumpkin — technically a fruit — on Sept. 19 at the Cedarburg festival.

The three largest pumpkins also earned the enormous honor of being displayed in a special Halloween patch at the New York Botanical Garden.

And that's how this "Great Pumpkin" organically appeared atop this week's special Halloween Odd List! NE
